

Wiadomości Entomologiczne / Entomological News – the journal publishes original articles concerning material, reviews, discussion, faunistic contributions and short reports, whose main subject are insects. It also publishes articles on the methods and history of entomology as well as biographies, reviews of books, polemics, corrections and reports, communications and other annalistic materials concerning entomological activities in the wide sense. The papers are published in Polish and English.

Only full members of Polish Entomological Society are entitled to free publication in our journal. Articles of the people who do not meet membership obligations or are not PTEnt. members can be accepted for publications provided the authors cover the full cost of editing.

In order to ensure a high standard all the scientific articles are reviewed by specialists in the area prior to publication. Exceptions are annalistic papers, reviews and polemics. The review form is available on our website.

In order to enable an electronic publication of articles the authors are obliged to assign part of copyright onto Polish Entomological Society. The copyright assign form also includes a declaration preventing ghostwriting. It is available from our website.

After publishing articles the authors receive their electronic version in a PDF form.

Detailed recommendations for authors can be found on the website of Polish Entomological Society.

Articles not compliant with the recommendations will be returned to the authors.
